OBIETTIVI

This call aims to establish an SME support scheme through the Enterprise Europe Network to address labour and skills shortages in innovative SMEs across Europe. The scheme is designed to facilitate the recruitment and training of highly skilled researchers from abroad, thereby enhancing the innovation capacity of SMEs and supporting their research and innovation (R&I) projects. The action targets SMEs that have difficulty finding the necessary skills in their national labour markets, particularly in strategic sectors such as clean and circular technologies, energy, health, biotech, agriculture, bioeconomy, digital technologies, aerospace, and civil security. The scheme also seeks to provide career development opportunities for researchers, including those with PhDs and former MSCA fellows, by enabling them to gain experience in the private sector. Only entities that are beneficiaries in the Enterprise Europe Network as a result of the call SMP-COSME-2024-EEN are eligible to apply as coordinators for this action.
