DESCRIÇÃO

Objectives

This topic aims to improve understanding of the role and influence of large private companies, multinational corporations, technology platforms, foreign investors and business lobbying groups in democratic governance . Projects should examine how corporate activities and interests affect policymaking, political inequalities, democratic accountability, fundamental rights and the balance of power between public institutions, private actors and citizens.

The action seeks to identify both the benefits and risks of private-sector involvement in policymaking, particularly in areas such as climate change, environmental protection, data protection, privacy, civil rights and minority rights. Projects should provide policymakers, civil society and other stakeholders with evidence, tools and recommendations that promote transparency, responsible corporate conduct and the protection of the public interest.

Funding

Funding is provided under a Horizon Europe Research and Innovation Action (RIA) . The topic has an indicative budget of €8 million , with approximately two projects expected to be funded. The Commission considers an EU contribution of between €3.5 million and €4 million per project appropriate, although proposals requesting different amounts may also be considered where properly justified.

As a Research and Innovation Action, projects may receive funding of up to 100% of eligible costs for all beneficiary types , including for-profit entities. The action is implemented through a lump sum grant , in accordance with the applicable Horizon Europe rules.
